ABOUT THE COVER

A double-header makes its way over the high bridge on Bill and Steven Brown's Lehigh Alliance of Rail Carriers (LARC). The LARC is Bill's sixth layout and was planned and developed to be an endeavor that he could share with his then six-year-old son Steven. Steven is now 14, but the layout continues to provide a source of enjoyment and an opportunity for them to bond as they share their love of model railroading...an interest that has spanned the generation gap much like that bridge does the valley below. To see more of their great railroad and to learn what went into its development turn to page 36. Photo by Art Fahie.
